

The Donald is coming to Loudoun

Donald Trump and his son, Eric, plan to be in Loudoun County this week.

On Thursday (April 30), the Trumps will hold a press conference and brief Q&A session starting at 1 p.m. at Lowes Island Club in Sterling. Talk, obviously, will focus on Trump's recent acquisition of the Lowes Island Golf Club and its 600 acres on the Potomac River.

Trump and his son also stopped by Lowes Island April 24 to talk to the club's current members.

The Trump organization currently owns and operates award-winning golf courses across this country and the world. Trump bought the Lowes Island club for a cool $18 million.

Expect to pay a lot for memberships at the new Trump owned club. Fees are expected to range from $25,000 to $175,000. And, the $25K is for a social membership only (no golf). Happy golfing!

Paul Smith is the executive editor of the Northern Virginia Division of Times Community Newspapers. He oversees editorial content for the Fairfax County Times and Loudoun Times-Mirror.

Times Community © 2007 | Loudoun Times-Mirror